

Hepatitis

Hepatitis is inflammation of the liver. This can be caused by alcohol and some drugs, but usually it is the result of a viral infection. Both Hepatitis B & C are transmitted in similar ways to HIV, by blood, semen, vaginal fluids or by sharing injecting equipment. You may not show any signs or symptoms at all, but if you have the viruses in your body, you can still pass them on to others. For further information go to:

www.lovelife.uk.com

